Serial drink-drive mum avoids prison

■ FRUITS OF THEIR LABOURS . . . youngsters who designed a garden and play area had the chance to return to their old school for the official opening. The design, which transformed a grassed area at Kettlefields primary school, between Dullingham and Stetchworth, won £1,000 in a competition. Full story and more pictures – Page 3.

A MAGISTRATE'S daughter has avoided a jail sentence despite appearing in court for her fourth drink-related driving offence.

Emma Crawley, 45, was more than three times the drink-drive limit when police stopped her car near Newmarket last month.

Crawley, whose mother Anne is a Suffolk magistrate and whose family own Chippenham Park Estate, was given a 16-week prison sentence, suspended for 18 months.

District Judge David Cooper said the offence clearly passed the custody threshold, taking into account Crawley's previous record, but he considered an immediate jail term would be "hopelessly damaging" to her family.

But the sentence came under fire from road safety charity Brake.

A spokeswoman for the charity said: "You have to balance the judge's comment about her family against the families who have lost loved ones through drink-driving. It really seems the message is not getting through with this person."

"We need to send out a clear message to those who endanger life through drink-driving that this kind of behaviour will not be tolerated."

■ BANNED . . . Emma Crawley.

Judge Cooper, who read a probation officer's report on Crawley before passing sentence at Ipswich magistrates' court, also imposed a five-year driving ban – the second ban of the same length she has received.

Crawley, who has four children aged between 12 and 19, and lives at Chesterfield Mews, Sackville Street, Newmarket, admitted drink-driving at her first court appearance at Sudbury on February 19.

One of her previous drink-related offences was in 2002 when she was disqualified from driving for five years after crashing her car on the A14 while taking her children to school.

A summary of the latest offence, which happened at 10pm on February 8, was read out by the judge at the previous hearing.

Play time at last for winning designers

YOUNGSTERS who designed a garden and play area returned to their old school to see it officially opened. The pupils drew the design for the area at Kettlefields primary school, between the villages of Dullingham and Stetchworth, near Newmarket, two years ago. The Year 8 youngsters, who have since left the school, returned on Monday to see it officially opened by Lady Nourse, of Dullingham House.

Their design won £1,000 in a competition run by Woolworths. The school PTFA – parent, teacher and friends association – also raised £3,000.

The total cost of the project, to transform what was once just a grassed area, was £27,000.

The area will benefit all 146 children at the school.

Council shake-up — have your say

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

RESIDENTS can have a say in the biggest re-organisation of local government for 30 years.

The shake-up could lead to mergers between existing councils and could result in the abolition of Forest Heath District Council, which covers the Newmarket and Mildenhall areas.

The Government has asked the Boundary Committee to carry out the review following a bid by Ipswich Borough Council for unitary status which would take functions from Suffolk County Council.

A number of options are under consideration including a single unitary authority for the whole county which would take over all the functions of district councils.

Other options are: two unitary councils based on "greater" Ipswich – the town and its surrounds – and the rest of Suffolk, two unitary councils based on east and west Suffolk, three unitary councils based on "greater" Ipswich and east and west Suffolk and Ipswich, or no-change with district councils and the county council continuing.

Cllr Geoffrey Jaggard, Forest Heath District Council leader, said: "It is vital that local people express their views about how their essential services, from waste collection to education, are delivered."

Consultation leaflets are available from council offices and leisure centres in Newmarket, Mildenhall, and Brandon and the reply slip needs no stamp.

Every councillor will have a supply of the leaflet to distribute in their ward and there is also an online survey and more information at www.forest-heath.gov.uk

Fun on the Fen

A FREE event for families is being staged at a fenland nature reserve.

The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds (RSPB) is staging the event at its Lakenheath Fen reserve between 12.30pm and 3.30pm on Sunday, March 30.

Kirsty Nutt, RSPB information officer, said: "This is a great opportunity for people to find out all about what the Fens were like hundreds of years ago and the changes that have happened since then. Discover the wonderful wildlife from the past, the present and the future."

The reserve was created 12 years ago to restore wetland habitat to encourage rare species such as the bittern to return to the area.

For more information call (01842) 863400.

Vicar's farewell

THE VICAR of Exning is moving on to take charge of four parishes near Bury St Edmunds.

Canon Simon Pettitt, 57, who has been at Exning for seven years, will hold his last service in the village's St Martin's Church on Easter Sunday.

He said: "I have enjoyed my time at Exning, but it is the appropriate time to move on."

He will be heading the Horringer benefice which includes the villages of Westley, Whepstead and Brockley.

He has been a Church of England clergyman since 1975 and has been in Suffolk since 1980.

Charity boost

A CHARITY group which has raised nearly £110,000 in the past 30 years has held its annual presentation evening.

The Fordham Charity Group made grant awards totalling £2,690 at the evening in the village.

The money was raised from charity concerts and local fundraising.

The largest amount this year went to the East Anglian Air Ambulance which received £1,000. Soham Staploe Patients' Transport Fund received £850 and seven Fordham organisations received £120 each.

In the past the group has supported more than 50 charities and organisations.

Green birthday

A CONSERVATION group is about to celebrate its first birthday.

The Red Lodge Conservation Group was formed to improve and conserve the heath area in the village which is a site of special scientific interest.

The group's annual meeting will be held at the Red Lodge Millennium Centre on Wednesday, April 9, from 7pm.

Anyone interested in joining is invited to come along.

Working parties are organised on the first Sunday of each month and meetings are held at the Red Lodge Inn every two months.

Extension plan

A COMPANY with a £25 million turnover is planning a major extension to one of its units. RP Valves has been granted planning permission for a 2,448 sq metre extension to its warehouse in Holborn Avenue, Mildenhall. The company, which also has premises in nearby Fred Dannatt Road, employs about 30 people in total. The new extension should create an extra three to five jobs. It was started in 1994 by Robert Palmer and supplies valves and gaskets to the oil, gas and petrochemical industry across the world. Forest Heath District Council has given planning permission for the extension.

Intruder in car

A MAN caught inside a car parked in a driveway then made off on a bicycle. The man was disturbed while in the blue Rover car, which had been left unlocked in the driveway of a house in Barry Lynham Drive, Newmarket. The alarm went off alerting the owner. The man was seen making off down an alleyway with a shopping bag and the bike. Anyone with information about the incident, which happened between 9pm last Wednesday and 4am last Thursday should call Pc Guy Mitchell at Newmarket Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

■ HEAVY LOAD . . . pilgrims on their way to Walsingham stopped off at Burwell

Picture: Warren Gunn 473974.

Easter pilgrims take a welcome break

EASTER pilgrims celebrated the 60th anniversary of a 126-mile journey when they made a stop for tea at Burwell vicarage.

Around 30 walkers, who set out from Epping on Friday on the London leg of the pilgrimage to the shrine at Walsingham in Norfolk, shared a specially-baked cake with parishioners.

They had spent the previous night at the Margaret Beaufort Institute in Cambridge and were heading to Fordham for their next overnight stop in the village's Victoria Hall.

They take it in turns to carry a nine-foot solid oak cross on the pilgrimage which will end tomorrow, Good Friday, when a number of other legs of the pilgrimage converge at Walsingham.

Canon Stephen Earl, vicar of Burwell, said: "It's a long tradition of offering hospitality to the pilgrims at Burwell.

It's lovely that so many people from the parish join in and bring cakes, scones and sausage rolls."

Parishioner Pauline Miller made the special 60th anniversary cake and was remembered by one of the pilgrims who took part in the 50th anniversary event for which Mrs Miller also made a cake.

Around 250 people are taking part in the pilgrimage which includes a leg from Ely.

Burglar posed as police officer to rob pensioner

A MAN claimed to be a police officer to trick his way into the homes of two elderly women.

The first burglary took place in High Street, Chippenham, when a man claiming to be an officer knocked at one woman's door.

She refused to let him in but then noticed two other men in her home who let the man in. They searched the property but left empty-handed.

The second incident was at a property in Mays Avenue, Balsham, when a man claiming to be an officer knocked on the door. Again, the woman then noticed two men in her home who let in the third man.

Both incidents took place on Monday night.

Detective Inspector Alan

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Page said: "These men are clearly targeting the elderly and vulnerable and have no thought for the stress they are putting their victims through."

"Officers would never just let themselves into a person's home if a burglary or similar incident had occurred next door."

"All police officers carry identification with them at all times and the public have a right to ask to see it."

Meanwhile, a brazen thief stole a pensioner's wallet from his home as he was eating his evening meal.

The victim, who is in his 70s, was having dinner at his home in Church Lane Close, Barton Mills, when a man walked into his living room and claimed he was from Neighbourhood Watch.

The pensioner told him to leave and the man left through a back door. But it was found later that the victim's wallet was missing.

The incident was one of a spate of offences in Mildenhall and Brandon, where bogus callers targeted pensioners on Monday evening.

A woman living in Trinity Avenue, Mildenhall, was called on by two men in their late teens or early-20s who walked into her home and said they were going to run off the water.

She followed them around the house and nothing is thought to have been stolen.

But cash was stolen in two other incidents in Queen Road and Tower Close in Brandon.

Detective Inspector John

Brocklebank said: "These offenders have preyed on some of the most vulnerable members of society."

"These despicable crimes have caused extreme distress to the victims and officers will be revisiting all of them to offer reassurance, to do forensic work where applicable and to investigate these offences."

"The offenders appear to have deliberately targeted these individuals - I want to hear from anyone who may have seen any suspicious persons in the areas where these burglaries took place, on Monday and over the weekend."

"It is possible these offenders have called at other properties, either on Monday or at some other time."

Anyone with information should call Mildenhall CID on (01473) 613500.

He said she had been stopped by a police officer who saw her cross a white line while making a turn at Herringswell Road, Kentford, in her Peugeot 306 car.

A breath test recorded a reading of 108mcg of alcohol in 100ml of breath. The legal limit for driving is 35mcg. At that previous hearing, Judge Cooper heard Crawley had told officers she had drunk two bottles of wine on the day she was caught. But she told the court she had stopped drinking after the incident.

Judge Cooper ordered that Crawley should be placed under the supervision of the probation service for the next 18 months. She was also ordered to pay £65 prosecution costs.

Plane damaged during landing was 'at risk'

A PLANE that took off from Newmarket Racecourse could have crashed at any time after its wings were damaged while landing, a report has revealed.

The pilot and passengers in the single-engined PA32-300 Cherokee Six plane were unaware of the danger as they flew back to Middleham in Yorkshire after Newmarket's Totesport Cambridgeshire race meeting last October.

The wings had been damaged when the plane landed at Newmarket earlier in the day, but it was only discovered two days later during a routine maintenance inspection.

Details of the incident have just been made public by the Air Accident Inspection Branch (AAIB).

Experts from the AAIB were called in after the plane's 28-year-old pilot, who has not been named, told them of the landing incident after the damage was discovered.

The AAIB said the damage to the wings was "considered to have weakened the wing structure sufficiently such that there was a risk of structural failure during the aircraft's return flight to Middleham".

The wings had to be removed for repairs.

The AAIB report said the pilot, who had three passengers on board, put the flaps up after touch-down at Newmarket's grass strip so the brakes would work more efficiently.

But as the plane passed over an undulation in the ground it became airborne again and made what the pilot described as a "firm" landing.

No detailed inspection was made of the plane before it took off to return to Middleham.

But it was later found that there was serious structural damage to the lower skins of both wings and the leading edge of the right wing.

The wing spars were also distorted.

The AAIB concluded that the damage was a result of the weight of fuel in the outer wing tanks.

'Be vigilant' police warn over tool thefts

TOOLS valued at more than £10,000 have been stolen from vans parked in the Newmarket and Mildenhall areas.

During the past three weeks, 14 vans were broken into in the Forest Heath district, which includes the two towns.

Six vans were broken into in one night in the Lakenheath and Brandon areas.

Four of the vans were in Caudle Avenue and Gorse Close, Lakenheath, when thieves smashed windows, bent doors and forced locks before stealing drills, a jigsaw, an angle grinder, two-way radios and other tools and equipment.

The incidents happened last Wednesday night. On the same night a van parked in Hillside, Brandon, was broken into and more tools, as well as a DVD unit and a Tom Tom satellite navigation screen, were stolen.

Detective Inspector John Brocklebank appealed to contractors to remove tools from vans when they are parked overnight.

He said: "Any items of value left inside will be tempting to a thief, who can easily take hundreds if not thousands of pounds worth of tools in one go."

"Sat navs are also often used by van drivers - make sure these are also removed along with their holder and wipe the mark left off the window."

"If a garage is available, use it and

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

secure it - this will take your van and its potential contents off display.

"Always keep your vehicle secure at all times, and if you don't have access to a garage, park in a busy, well-lit area."

"Keep records of your property and mark items with an ultra-violet pen."

"Register the serial numbers of power tools with the UK property database Immobilise at www.immobilise.com as any property recovered by Suffolk police and many other forces across the country will be checked against this database. If a match is found officers can reunite the item with its owner."

"I would also appeal to people to be vigilant - let police know if you see any suspicious persons or vehicles, or if you are approached by anyone selling tools such as those which have been stolen."

"Be wary of anyone selling tools without their boxes, or on the streets, in car parks or pubs. If a price seems too good to be true, it probably is."

Anyone with any information about thefts from vans, cars or lorries in Forest Heath, or who may have been offered stolen items for sale, should contact Newmarket, Mildenhall or Brandon police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Focus on stroke care at regional conference

MORE than 250 of the region's top doctors and healthcare professionals took part in a one-day conference to discuss ways of reducing the number of strokes suffered by people.

Strokes, usually caused when a blood clot disrupts the supply of blood to the brain, are the third biggest killer in Britain affecting 150,000 people a year.

Top Government adviser Professor Roger Boyle, spoke about the Department of Health's national stroke strategy which aims to reduce stroke deaths in people under 75 by at least 40 per cent by 2010.

The event was opened by Dr Mary Archer, chairman of Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust.

Peter Rose, East of England regional manager for The Stroke Association, said: "The East of England Stroke Forum provided a unique opportunity for those involved in the stroke-serving community in the East of England to come together and learn about the excellent practice happening in the region, in addition to providing the chance to focus on some very difficult issues in stroke care and management."

"For too long stroke has been seen as a Cinderella condition, despite being the UK's third biggest killer and the leading cause of severe disability."

"However, the significance of stroke has now been recognised by the Government with the launch of the National Stroke Strategy."

■ FORUM . . . Dr Mary Archer opened the conference.

Chaff canister still missing after falling from US plane

THE anti-missile chaff canister which fell from a Mildenhall-based American plane last week has not been found.

The canister, which looks like an eight-inch bread box, fell from an MC-130, a version of the Hercules transport plane, from the base's 352nd Special Operations Group on Monday, March 10, during a routine training mission.

The crew of the plane only noticed that the canister was missing when they returned to the base after a training flight.

Their route took them to Wales, north over Colwyn Bay to the Lake District and the Spadeadam military range in Cumbria before returning via Leeming in Yorkshire and Coningsby in Lincolnshire.

A base spokeswoman said such incidents were rare.

But in 2004 a dummy bomb was accidentally dropped from a Lakenheath-based F-15E

Strike Eagle on a farm yard in Yorkshire.

No-one was hurt when the 25lb practice bomb embedded itself in concrete near a building.

The chaff canister is used in combat to confuse radar and missiles. It contains small bundles of metallic material and small explosive charges.

US Air Force officials have warned anyone finding the canister to stay clear and report it to the local police.

LEAD was pulled off the roof of a shopping centre.

Youths were spotted on the roof of Newmarket's Guineas shopping centre on Sunday night.

When police were called, they found lead from the roof had been left piled up at a number of places.

Anyone with information about the incident, which happened at about 9.45pm, should call Pc Stuart Manels at Newmarket police (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Battle goes on over mobile phone mast

THE controversy over a mobile phone mast which has been put up outside a school is set to continue.

Town councillors are looking into the possibility of setting up a petition in a bid to have the mast removed by O2 from Exning Road, Newmarket. District councillors are due to get a report on how the situation arose.

Councillors and residents were puzzled and angry when the mast appeared outside Newmarket College where the new swimming pool is being built. Local MP Richard Spring was also critical of the mast siting.

Richard Watson, Forest Heath District Council's head of planning, admitted that a mistake had been made when the council failed to respond to an application by O2 within 56 days, giving the company the right to go ahead and put up the mast.

He said the situation is "irrevocable" and nothing can be done.

But Cllr Mick Jefferys, a former mayor and a teacher at Newmarket College, suggested that the town clerk, Isabelle Barrett, should write to the district council and ask them to "explore every avenue" to have the mast removed.

Mrs Barrett has also been asked to find out who owns the land where the mast has been erected.

The mast is on the edge of the pavement on what is thought to be highway land under the control of Suffolk County Council. But the county education committee has a policy against mobile phone masts on school property.

The town council is looking into the possibility of using its website for a petition.

Handbag snatched from inside car

A HANDBAG was stolen from a car while the owner was in a shop.

The incident happened in Vicarage Road, Newmarket, outside a convenience store between 6.30pm and 7pm last Thursday. Police want to trace two young men wearing baseball caps who were seen in the area at the time.

Anyone with information should call Pc Chris Strahm at Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Costings 'totally unacceptable' in light of poor performance

OPEN letter to Bill Bishop, chairman of Forest Heath District Council:

I have just received your costings for the renewal of your Council Tax demands for the year 2008/09 and I find them totally unacceptable.

If one reviews your costings, it can be seen that you have not taken into consideration the very poor performance in the majority of the services you are supposed to provide for the people of Newmarket. Had you done so, a considerable reduction in Council Tax would have resulted.

For example, over the past years, as a collective of councils you have squandered around £1m on projects that were badly thought out, not necessary and have proven in the main not to be money well spent, namely parking, traffic management, new toilets, and, shortly, road changes around the clock tower.

One has to ask – do your consultants and planning officers visit each and every site on planning applications, or do they, as they have admitted on at least two occasions, make all their decisions from drawings viewed in plush offices?

Bearing this in mind, we now have a situation where you are not able to respond to planning applications in the specified time, namely the O2 mast in Exning Road, the building applications in Bury Road and Oaks Drive at Studlands.

Add to this the fiasco and saga of changes to the schools' regime which, in all honesty, had been decided on before the public had any say. Have the people responsible for all these erroneous items been named and reprimanded? No.

As well as the above, mention should be made on the environmental state of the town. Generally, it is abysmal, with the attempts at street and pavement cleaning being pathetic, and litter and supermarket trolleys abounding around car parks and open spaces.

The water course (yellow brick road) is continuously filthy and unkempt. In the summer months, ground maintenance and weed control, and litter picking before grass cutting, is far from adequate.

It is evident that no control or inspection of works carried out is in place, and therefore no quality surveying of any kind – these points partially confirmed to me when speaking to the Highways Department on some unsatisfactory road repairs.

All your claims of listening and reading what the people of Newmarket say or write is total taboo.

I conclude by asking you how many of your councillors, planning officers and consultants who make decisions on the way of life in Newmarket actually, if ever, either live, work, drive, park, shop or spend any recreational time in our town – at a guess, I would suggest very few. Is it not time that Newmarket was councilled by Newmarket people?

I look forward to receiving your revised proposals for the coming year's Council Tax.

It should be interesting as, unlike the private sector where we can reject tendered costs, you, as the public sector, have a license to kill.

Have a say on future of councils

Sir, Local government in Suffolk may be changing as a result of a Government review, taking place this year. No decisions have yet been made, but it could mean one, two or three large councils – unitary councils – being responsible for all services currently provided by district and county councils. Among the options are:

- one unitary council for the whole of Suffolk
- two unitary councils based on Greater Ipswich and the rest of Suffolk
- two unitary councils based on east and west Suffolk
- three unitary councils based on Greater Ipswich and east and west Suffolk.
- Stay as we are – district and county council.

The Government will be making the final decision, but Forest Heath District Council wants to hear from local people about how they would like services delivered and from where. Consultation leaflets are being circulated in local newspapers and are available from the bus station in Mildenhall and all our offices in Newmarket, Brandon and Mildenhall.

There is an on-line consultation form at www.forest-heath.gov.uk You can also get a leaflet from your ward councillor. If you don't know who that is please visit www.forest-heath.gov.uk

This will be the biggest change in local government in more than 30 years with all districts and the county council being disbanded.

It is vital that local people are heard in this review and I really encourage all residents to get in touch either via the leaflet or the online survey mentioned or by emailing us at Info@forest-heath.gov.uk

Forest Heath District Council

Go-ahead for £3m upgrade at council HQ

A COUNCIL is pressing ahead with plans to refurbish its headquarters at a cost of more than £3 million – even though its future is in doubt.

An opposition proposal to put the scheme on hold was out voted. The plan is to upgrade Forest Heath District Council's headquarters.

Councillor Ian Radford, a Liberal Democrat opposition member of the council, called for the scheme to be shelved for up to nine months while the Boundary Committee, which is considering the future of all councils in Suffolk, comes up with proposals for the future of local government in the county.

Forest Heath, which includes the Newmarket and Mildenhall areas, is

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

the smallest district council in the county and is considered a candidate for merging to create a "unitary" council.

Cllr Radford asked that only costings of immediately necessary work on the council's offices in College Heath Road, Mildenhall, should be obtained. But he was out voted by the council's controlling Conservative group.

Cllr Geoffrey Jaggard, the council leader, said: "This is a great opportunity for our residents to enjoy better facilities with more convenient services and for our staff to have proper working conditions."

He said the cost could be offset by renting part of the building.

Nigel McCurdy, the council's strategic director, has been authorised to take decisions for the project in consultation with councillors on the office refurbishment board.

Mr McCurdy said: "We appreciate the fact that there could be changes in line for councils over the next few years but we're not going to stop improving services to the district on the back of something which is still uncertain."

"The work to provide fit-for-purpose facilities for our staff is already overdue so essential maintenance must be carried out regardless and, by investing in improvements to also benefit partners and residents, we will be providing a saleable asset for the future regardless of the outcome of the boundary review."

Workers learn to cut the waste

WORKERS building a new horse hospital at Newmarket were given tips on saving money and saving the planet during their tea break.

Contractors working for Kier Eastern had a 30-minute presentation by Kotuku, a not-for-profit organisation set up to promote the sustainable use of resources on building sites.

The organisation has a "café van" which visits major building sites giving out hot drinks together with a message about reducing waste.

Peter Johnson, environmental manager for Kier Eastern, said: "The Kier Group is strongly committed to its environmental policy and presentations like this help ensure we work in the most environmentally sustainable way possible when carrying out large construction projects such as this new equine hospital."

Destruction of 50 trees spurs on conservationists

A CAMPAIGN group has been launched to protect a town's historic heritage after residents were angered when developers razed more than 50 trees.

The Save Historic Newmarket group has been formed after residents were shocked to see the garden of a house in the town's Bury Road bulldozed to make way for a flats development.

The house, known as The Gables, was previously at the centre of a bitter dispute between the former owner, millionaire racehorse owner Ivan Allan and his ex-girlfriend Glory Clibbery.

It ended with her and her mother being forcibly evicted from the house in October, 2004.

Now developers Highland have started work on a scheme to build 20 flats in what was the garden of the house.

The scheme was the subject of a planning dispute which saw the town council opposing the scheme.

But a planning inspector last year granted permission following an appeal by Highland.

The developers lodged

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

the appeal after Forest Heath District Council failed to give a decision on a revised planning application within the time limit, although councillors later said they would have refused planning permission.

Rachel Hood, wife of racehorse trainer John Gosden whose stables are further along Bury Road, has started the campaign group.

She said: "Bury Road is the flagship road for British racing with the stables and the large houses.

"If Forest Heath had acted more responsibly they could have negotiated to have a development more in keeping with the area.

"This development could set a precedent for other similar proposals.

"I feel we should be preserving the character of the conservation area.

"I haven't come across anyone who thinks it's a good thing to put an ultra-modern development in Bury Road and take down 50 trees."

David Hughes, founder of Highland property developers, said: "Visually the site is probably at its absolutely worst state at the moment.

"We had three very high-powered landscape consultants in for the appeal so it's not just a developer going in there with a chainsaw."

He added: "We want to keep as many mature trees as we can and new trees will be planted in the landscaping scheme.

"We want to make it look fantastic otherwise we won't sell the flats."

He said he would be willing to discuss the scheme with Ms Hood and her group.

"I would like them to revisit the site in 15 months time when it is completed and let us know what they think about it then," he said.

Cllr Rona Burt, who chairs Forest Heath District Council's planning committee, said: "The development was approved by a government inspector so the decision was taken out of our hands.

She added: "It saddens me to see trees taken down, but I'm sure there is a landscaping scheme to replace them."

To sign a petition against the scheme or find out more about the group email save@historicnewmarket.co.uk.

Lucky 13 in marathon bid to help race charity

MORE than £20,000 is expected to be raised for Newmarket-based charity Racing Welfare by runners taking part in this year's London Marathon.

The charity has 13 runners in this year's event which takes place next month.

They include Charlie Hancock, whose wife Lisa was formerly managing director of Newmarket Racecourses, and Dawn Laidlaw, nominations manager at Sheikh Mohammed's Darley stud horse breeding operation.

Runners from bookmakers, Totesport, Coral, Ladbrokes, Blue Square and WBX, will also be raising money for the charity which supports racing workers and those retired from the horseracing industry.

More information and sponsorship details are available on the charity's website www.racingwelfare.co.uk

Music sessions offer chance to plug in Amplifier, the music project which operates across Suffolk, will be coming to the college on Wednesday, March 26, and Wednesday, April 2, between 2pm and 4pm on both days.

Music and DJ equipment is supplied for the sessions which cost £1 per person.

The sessions are supported by the Youth Opportunities and Youth Capital Fund as well as Forest Heath District Council and Suffolk County Council.

For more details contact Lizzi Cocker at the district council (01638) 719257.

Free passes out

NEW national free bus passes will be issued to existing holders of Suffolk free bus passes by Forest Heath District Council.

The council is sending out the new passes automatically to existing holders during the week beginning March 24.

The new pass will allow holders to travel in Suffolk at any time and throughout England on local buses between 9.30am and 11pm Monday to Friday and all day weekends and bank holidays.

Forest Heath, which includes the Newmarket and Mildenhall areas, is one of the councils which is allowing free travel within its county at any time. Other councils are only allowing pass holders free off-peak travel.

Anyone applying for a pass for the first time should contact the council's headquarters in College Heath Road, Mildenhall, or its office in Newmarket's Guineas centre.

People aged 60 or over and those who are blind or have other eligible disabilities can apply. Further information can be found on the website www.forest-heath.gov.uk

In our weekly column, reporter JOHN GOODE takes a look behind the racing scene to bring you news from in and around the stables.

Backing for new stables aimed at young trainers

OUTLINE planning permission has been granted for a new "starter" stable unit to be built on part of existing stables in Newmarket.

Forest Heath District Council planners have agreed that racehorse trainer Rae Guest, pictured right, can use part of his land at Chestnut Tree Stables in Hamilton Road to build the new stables which will be the subject of a detailed planning application at a later stage.

He said that the new stables would be aimed at young trainers just starting out in the horseracing industry.

He said there was a shortage of facilities in the town for small-scale trainers and the new stable would help fulfil the demand.

The new stables would be built on a paddock at the back of the existing stables close to the horse walk and racecourse gallops.

There were no objections to the plan from the town council.

Revamp plan withdrawn

PLANS for a major revamp at Tattersalls racehorse sales yard in Newmarket have been withdrawn.

The scheme faced opposition from people living nearby in The Avenue but members of the town council raised no objections to the plans for new stables, hay barn, muck bunker, lunging ring and staff restaurant.

The company, which was planning to increase the number of stables from 94 to 104, has now withdrawn its application for planning permission. It is understood to be due to submit revised plans to Forest Heath District Council, the planning authority.

Tattersalls said the new stables were needed to improve facilities and replace old stables on sloping ground.

Fun day for fundraising

A CHARITY race day which has raised more than £1 million is due to be held again this year.

The Countryside Family Fun Day will be staged at Newmarket's NatWest Rowley Mile racecourse, on Sunday, May 25.

Since the day was first held, in 1992, it has raised more than £1 million for the Countryside Alliance and two annually selected charities.

The two charities to benefit this year are Hearing Dogs for Deaf People and Norfolk & Norwich Association for the Blind.

The event will include a shopping village, a food hall, a racehorse simulator, archery, laser clay shooting and fly casting.

There will also be displays of hounds, bird of prey and pony racing.

Discounted tickets purchased in advance – before May 9 – are now available, by calling (01638) 675500 using the reference code NCRD-08. All funds raised by tickets purchased using this code will be donated directly to the day's beneficiaries.

Council defends its officers' 'modest' trips around world

BY Rachel Extance

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

GLOBE-TROTTING council officers clocked up around 70,000 miles on trips abroad as far afield as America and the United Arab Emirates last year.

A Freedom of Information (FOI) request by our sister paper, the Cambridge Evening News, has revealed staff at Cambridgeshire County Council travelled all over the world on 32 visits in 2007.

Excursions included a trip to New York to recruit social workers, a visit for an adoption case in Connecticut, a conference in Greece, and looking at engineering firm Atkins' global design centre in Dubai.

Staff also went to the Swedish city of Malmo six times.

Two-thirds of the visits were made by members of the council's Smartlife project, an international scheme promoting modern construction methods, who went to meetings in Spain, Germany, Denmark, France,

■ CLOCKING UP MILES . . . council officials travelled far and wide on business.

Italy, Norway, Sweden, Belgium and Portugal.

All except three of the visits were externally funded.

Cambridgeshire County Council paid 48 per cent of the £2,014 cost of sending four staff to Ieper, Belgium, for a conference, the same proportion of a trip to Eindhoven in Holland which cost £302, and £700 costs for fuel, parking and living expenses were incurred during the New York visit.

The authority defended the number of trips, saying they had pulled £6 million into Cambridgeshire through Smartlife and the Ieper visit secured £1 million – a fifth of the European funding available for improving community inclusion through IT.

Officers said the visit to New York resulted in four social workers being employed and it cost less to go to America to seek candidates than to place an advert in the British press.

Flights and accommodation for the visit were paid for by the recruitment agency.

Gordon Jeyes, acting chief executive, said: "Considering we have a budget of £570 million for a region which includes a global city, I think the amount of travel is quite modest."

"Of the £21,000 spent in the last year, only 21 per cent of that was funded by tax payers."

The council said all close European trips were made by train, Eurostar or Euro-tunnel and low-cost airlines were used wherever possible.

Liz Stevenson, international manager at Smartlife, said: "The good thing about the visits we were able to make to see Swedish buildings sites is their environmental construction methods are tougher than in the UK and we know those standards will be coming in through building regulations."

"This is helping us be better prepared for that."

Cllr David Jenkins, leader of the opposition Liberal Democrat group, said the travel details were "surprising" but did not give cause for concern.

Grants will help wildlife

WILDLIFE projects in Cambridgeshire will use £194,000 in grants on projects including the first phase of creating a new forest.

The county has been given the cash over the last three years by the SITA Trust, through the Landfill Communities Fund.

Cambridge University will use its grant of £25,000 to plant 10 hectares of native woodland to mark its 800th anniversary next year.

The Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire, Northamptonshire and Peterborough Wildlife Trust aims to link two Sites of Special Scientific Interest at Gamlingay Wood to Waresley and Gransden Woods.

This is the first phase of the plan for a forest in South Cambridgeshire.

Catherine Weightman, regional biodiversity co-ordinator for Natural England, said teamwork between a range of organisations meant they could add to the birds, butterflies and heathland in the East of England.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.
- ☐ Employer.
- ☐ Doctor.
- ☐ Dentist.

- ☐ Friends and relatives.

Play & Learn

Moulton Pre-school which operates 3 days a week from the village hall is more than just a starting point for young children, it is an integral part of the community.

The pre-school which has been running since the 1970's is ofsted registered and has been accredited with the 'Suffolk Quality Assurance Scheme Award'. This means that the pre-school is always striving to maintain standards and shows parents that the pre-school and its staff are committed to quality. There are very few establishments in West Suffolk that have achieved this award.

The recent ofsted inspection stated that the 'Quality of teaching and learning' at the pre-school is good, as were the facilities and activities. The staff were considered to be very good role models and put into practice a very positive behaviour management policy.

The pre-school firmly believes that for children of this age group, the best way to learn is through play and fun. The children enjoy a variety of activities, which are planned and set up daily. The ofsted inspector stated that 'Children enter premises where staff have worked extremely well before session begins to create an interesting and attractive learning environment that promotes their development'.

The pre-school is also situated next to the village park, which enables them to have safe outdoor play and activities, enabling the pre-school to provide as much outdoor play as indoor.

The pre-school is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 9.30am to 12.00 noon and there is an optional 'Lunch Club', from 12.00 noon to 1.00pm.

There is a voluntary parent helper rota, to encourage parents to become involved in their child's early education and to gain a greater understanding of how the staff and pre-school work. The high ratio of adults means that there is an excellent degree of individual care and attention given.

Councillor in protest over 'illegal' move

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

AN opposition councillor walked out of a meeting in protest at what he felt was an illegal decision.

Cllr Ian Radford, who leads the Liberal Democrat group on Forest Heath District Council, walked out of a meeting of the council's overview and scrutiny committee after a paper on an internal audit self-assessment of the council was brought forward at short notice.

But Cllr Robin Millar, who chairs the committee, said no rules were broken by bringing the report forward as an item of urgent business.

"I'm sorry Councillor Radford withdrew from the meeting. We value his experience."

He said that the committee needed to consider the report before the end of this month because of new government legislation.

Councils are being asked to review the way they carry out an internal audit. The actual review will be carried out at a later date.

Cllr Radford said: "For some time, I and

■ SHORT NOTICE . . . Cllr Ian Radford said there was little time to look at report.

■ URGENT BUSINESS . . . Cllr Robin Millar said no rules were broken.

my colleagues have been dismayed by the way meetings are scheduled, rescheduled and cancelled, and by the way papers are often delivered to members shortly before meetings.

"This gives members, especially opposition group members, little time to give the papers the attention they deserve."

He said the papers on the audit self-assessment were circulated by email the day before the overview and scrutiny committee.

"In normal circumstances, papers open to the public should be circulated with the agenda at least seven days before the meeting. To get around this, an urgent business exception was used," he said.

Retired RAF officer is new town councillor

RETIRED RAF officer Richard Fletcher is the newest member of Newmarket Town Council.

He was co-opted by the council to fill the vacancy left following the death last year of Cllr Charles Drakeley.

Cllr Fletcher, 61, was chosen by other members of the council from three candidates.

He moved to Newmarket last year with his wife Wendy after 35 years service in the RAF and lives at The Severals.

He has joined the council as an independent without any party political affiliation.

"I am delighted to have been co-opted. I just wanted to do something for the community where we have chosen to live," he said. "We love it here and I have an interest in keeping the town beautiful."

Cllr Fletcher is currently "sitting in" at all the council committee meetings before deciding which committees he wants to join.

Cameras stolen in raid

THREE cameras, together with a battery charger, keys and cash, have been stolen from an estate agents.

Raiders broke through the door of Abbotts, in King Street, Mildenhall, between 7pm on Thursday, March 6, and 8.15am the next morning.

Anyone with information should call Pc Rebecca Taylor at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crime-stoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Head to retire

COLLEGE head Stephen Dart is due to retire later this year.

Mr Dart, pictured, who has been head of Newmarket College – formerly Newmarket Upper School – since January, 1990, is set to retire later this year. He has been teaching for 36 years.

His successor will be Dr Bob Cadwalladr, deputy principal at Linton Village College.

Dr Cadwalladr, who has been in his current post for five years, has previously taught at schools in Cambridge and March.

Licensing policy to undergo a review

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A REVIEW of licensing procedures is to be carried out by councillors following criticism over decisions to allow late night sales of alcohol and fast food.

Licences have been granted in Newmarket for a filling station to sell alcoholic drinks for 24 hours on four days a week and a burger restaurant in the town has been allowed to stay open until 1am.

The decisions by Forest Heath district councillors have angered Newmarket Town Council and residents who opposed the licences. The police also objected to the licences.

Now the district council has announced a review following a Government report which suggested that tougher action responsibility when determining an application.

"They must balance the evidence and residents' views along with national guidance, our own licensing policy, legal advice and the application itself.

"I welcome this scrutiny exercise and hope it will shed more light on the role of members in licensing."

Cllr Robin Millar, chairman of overview and scrutiny, said: "We may be a rural district but we have high concentrations of licensed premises. As a result, there is great potential for residents to experience distress and upset.

"The government's own report into the 2003 Licensing Act has identified problems, so it is a good time to review our own policy and processes for handling applications."

Young dancers lead the way with 45 top awards

YOUNG dancers from the Red Lodge area took top awards in a major regional contest.

Youngsters from the Lane Dance Centre classes held in the village took 45 awards away from the ballroom and Latin competition at the Bournemouth Pavilion.

The event was a qualifying round for the national finals to be held at Blackpool's Tower Ballroom in November.

The youngsters were competing in the categories for ballroom, Latin and sequence for children aged between four and 16.

Sisters Sophie and Rebecca Bush had a double win, taking home two first places each.

Lowri Davies won first place in both of the under six events and Olivia Stevens danced away with first place in the under eight waltz.

Laura Robinson, Emma Healey and Manon Davies all took home third place awards and other trophies. Rebecca Cole and Lowri Davies were placed second in their couples section.

Red Lodge centre principal Claire Thompson said: "I was so proud of how all of the children danced, they had all worked so hard towards the competition."

Classes are held at the Red Lodge Millennium Centre on Friday evenings.

Irish celebrations bring in charity cash

■ REVELLERS . . . customers and four-legged friends join in St Patrick's Day fun at the Waggon and Horses. CP

CUSTOMERS at Newmarket's Waggon and Horses celebrated St Patrick's Day Irish-style.

Some four-legged friends joined in the fun. Terriers Mikey and Murphy donned emerald green jackets for the occasion.

Landlord Fran O'Brien said: "We tried them with hats, but they wouldn't keep them on."

Fran made a £100 donation to Sport Relief after barmaid Philippa donned jockey's breeches and a bikini top to pose outside the High Street pub.

"It was good craik," said Mr O'Brien, who at one stage was seen walking up the High Street strumming a guitar.

Welcome return for police horses on beat

POLICE horses will join officers on patrol in Newmarket during Easter weekend.

The horses, from the City of London force, have previously been used in the town during busy bank holiday weekends when they have been praised by senior officers for helping reduce violence and disorder on the streets.

Chief Insp Michael Holdsworth, Forest Heath district police commander, said: "The horses are always very well received by people on a night out in Newmarket.

"They provide a reassuring presence in the busy town centre and when they were here in December there were no incidents of violent disorder.

"Suffolk Constabulary and our partners are very pleased to welcome the horses back to the county."

The horses will be in the High Street on Good Friday and Saturday nights when the town is expected to be busy with nightclub revellers.

House raid

JEWELLERY, cash and a laptop computer, together believed to be worth £1,500, have been stolen from a house in Brookside, Moulton.

The property was burgled between 2pm and 11pm on Saturday, March 15, when windows were forced.

Anyone with information should call Det Cons Sarah Shepperson at Mildenhall CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

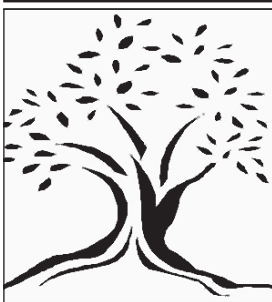

Spare a few hours to be a volunteer helper

Have you got any spare time? Would you like to do something on a regular basis or just occasionally? Those are the questions we have this month.

We at the Voluntary Network are always in need of volunteers and perhaps now, that the days are longer and a bit warmer, you might consider giving us a call on (01638) 6608048 to find out what opportunities we have available.

We do have a variety of placements that might be of interest to you. It does not matter whether you have a lot of time to give, or just a few hours here and there.

Perhaps you have heard of the Newmarket Day Centre, a local charity, which caters for retired people in the community by providing a drop in cafeteria, comprehensive day care, a meal delivery service, hairdressing, chiropody and even a bath and shower room. Other facilities on offer are day trips, day centre parties, line dancing, and a senior and over 60s club.

With such a variety of activities, as one can imagine, a string of volunteers are constantly needed, such as catering and shop assistants, drivers and escorts on the minibus as well as for the arranged day trips, delivery of hot meals, admin to help with their magazine, or, we have been told, help is even needed with the hairdressing or with manicures.

As one can see, to start with, there is already a great choice and the Newmarket Day Centre is only one of many organisations in great need of assistance.

Force cops for £10k 'lost' gear

WEAPONS, uniforms, batons, bikes, handcuffs and underwear are among items stolen from under the noses of police.

The bill for the hundreds of missing items runs into thousands of pounds, prompting calls for the "short-changed" Cambridgeshire force to take heed of its own crime prevention tips.

The list of missing items valued at £10,000 includes cycles worth £4,000, £1,000 of police clothing and a £55 bottle of aftershave. The underwear which was stolen has not been valued. A £46 knife was also reported lost.

The goods all disappeared from police premises including stations, station car parks and patrol cars.

Officers have lost £4,000 of equipment including 42 torches worth £1,000, batons costing a total of £1,300, 45 sets of handcuffs valued at £675, 10 utility belts at £10 each and 14 leg restraints worth £100.

Driving licences, ID cards, wallets, bags, mobile phones, credit cards, jewellery, books, tools, a power drill and car registration plates have also been stolen.

... but Matthew Elliott, left, says officers should take extra care to stop wasting force resources.

using the Freedom of Information Act, covers thefts and losses over three years.

Police have been told by a pressure group to take heed of its own crime prevention advice, especially after Chief Constable Julie Spence said her force had been "short-changed" by the Government.

Mrs Spence called for an additional £2 million to pay for 100 more officers to help tackle a population explosion and an influx of migrants.

Matthew Elliott, chief executive of the TaxPayers' Alliance, said: "It is obviously worrying that so much is being stolen."

"Not only do we hear regularly that the public should be taking better care of their belongings, but this is surely more important when every penny of the police budget is urgently needed to fight crime. Each of these losses means less money spent on catching criminals.

"For a cash-strapped force like Cambridgeshire it is more important to take care of resources."

A police spokesman said: "Items of equipment can be damaged or misplaced during operational work. Items are recorded as lost when a replacement is provided. This process is monitored."

A police information officer said not all of the items stolen were police property, but were taken from police premises.

County's £22m bill for Games

BY Bill Jacobs

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

CAMBRIDGESHIRE could be robbed of nearly £22 million to pay for the London Olympics.

Liberal Democrats have done an analysis of the full cost of the Government's raid on the National Lottery fund to pay for the Games.

It shows that community and sporting projects in Cambridge alone could lose £9,296,012 while the county generally could be left short by almost £22 million.

Neighbouring constituencies in Suffolk, Essex, Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire could miss out on more than £2 million.

Don Foster, the Lib Dem Culture and Sport spokesman, said the Government's own projections show £2 billion will be taken from lottery funds in the run up to the Olympic Games.

He said at current levels of lottery spending, every constituency in the country stands to lose out on hundreds of thousands of pounds. The party had taken the amount given to each constituency in the country as a percentage of the total National Lottery grants and then broken down the £2 billion earmarked out of mainstream lottery funding between each area.

This shows that Cambridge, which has received 0.46 per cent of the total so far, would miss out on £9,296,012.

Cambridgeshire North-East (0.05 per cent) would lose £1,026,419; Cambridgeshire North-West (0.08 per cent) £1,512,210; Cambridgeshire South (0.25 per cent) £4,983,510; Huntingdon (0.04 per cent) £894,417; and Peterborough (0.11 per cent) £2,267,139.

That amounts to a total raid on the county of £21,816,009.

Mr Foster said: "The whole country wants to see a successful Olympics but it should not be at any cost. These figures raise serious concerns about the impact the budget overspend is going to have on good causes in every region."

"One of the strengths of the London 2012 Olympic bid was its commitment to bring benefits to the whole country. We now need a renewed effort to ensure that actually happens."

Former Tory Shadow Culture and Sport Minister Malcolm Moss, MP for Cambridgeshire North East, said: "We have been warning for some time that the way the Government is siphoning off lottery cash from important local projects to pay for the Olympics is damaging."

"These latest figures are further evidence of the harmful effect on community, culture and sporting projects across the country that this is having."

Shadow Culture Secretary, Jeremy Hunt said: "These figures highlight the importance of returning the lottery to the four good causes, so in future the Government cannot raid the lottery to cover up their own financial incompetence."

Bach's ballet

THE Central School of Ballet is celebrating its 25th anniversary with a UK tour, which comes to Cambridge's ADC Theatre on Thursday, March 27.

The show will feature pieces from previous productions of The Nutcracker, Swan Lake and Cinderella as a new piece set to music by Bach. New pieces come from Christopher Hampson, Sara Matthews and Phil Aiden.

Tickets are £7-£9 and the show starts at 7.45pm. To book call (01223) 300085 or visit www.adctheatre.com

Indie models

SCOTTISH indie rockers Make Model come to the Soul Tree in Cambridge on Tuesday.

The band's latest single, LSB, is due out on April 7. It's a re-release of the limited edition debut they put out on their own label last year before being snapped up by EMI. Support comes from The Corrections and The Scissors.

Tickets are £5.

Easter treats

ST COLUMBA'S Church on Downing Street in Cambridge will host a concert by the Cambridge Voices choir on Good Friday. The concert at 4pm will feature the Pizzetti Requiem and music by Tallis, Vaughan Williams and Bach. Tickets are £6.

Then on Easter Sunday the choir will return to perform Handel's Messiah from 11am. Admission is free.

Janet creates a stir at annual book fest

TICKET sales for this year's Cambridge Wordfest are on course to set new records.

The event takes place at the ADC Theatre and other local venues on March 28, 29 and 30 and is the area's biggest literary festival.

Some of the big names appearing are comedian Dave Gorman, former Independent editor Janet Street Porter, Captain Corelli's Mandolin writer Louis de Bernieres and novelist Fay Weldon.

Other highlights include a poetry slam with local poet Jude Simpson, workshops in writing fiction, poetry and translating, a storytelling session and a range of events for youngsters featuring top children's authors.

"Janet Street Porter is selling well and Dave Gorman has sold out – in fact it surprised me that he sold out so quickly," says festival director Cathy Moore. "Rose Tremain is also proving highly popular, as is Fay Weldon."

By Nik Shelton

"Janet Street Porter is definitely a Marmite person. I don't know if I like the woman but I enjoyed her book and I certainly admire her."

"A lot of my traditional audience are horrified and some are excited. I've had everything from 'I must get tickets!' to 'How can Wordfest stoop so low?'. But I think it's great to create a reaction."

The festival sold 6,000 tickets last year and is on track to beat that record this time around.

The reaction to one event in particular has taken organisers by surprise. Guardian journalist John Mullen will be speaking about book groups and how to set them up on the Sunday of the festival. Book groups have been made popular in recent years and have sprung up across the country.

"The event with John Mullen is nearly sold out and we are considering moving it to a bigger venue."

"There are lots of people who like to get together informally with like-minded souls and read a book a month but there are also the more structured ones that are associated with local libraries or bookshops."

"It means you read books that perhaps you wouldn't normally read."

■ SKATES IN THE CITY... Dancing on Ice stars Linda Lusardi and Dan Whiston.

Linda gets her skates on

THOUSANDS are expected to flock to a temporary ice rink at Cambridge's Leisure Park over the Easter holidays.

The outdoor rink was opened yesterday by Dancing on Ice star Linda Lusardi and her skating partner Dan Whiston.

The rink is open to the public every day from tomorrow, 11am to 11pm on the park's main piazza until April 17, and each one-hour session costs £5 with skate hire.

Robert Warner, creative director for the park, said: "We are delighted that we have secured this first-rate attraction over the holiday period."

It is not the first time city residents have given a rink a far from cool reception. More than 35,000 people got their skates on at a temporary rink held at Parker's Piece during the Christmas period.

■ Weekly News readers have the chance to win one of two family tickets to try out the rink for themselves.

To enter the competition simply write and tell us which Cambridge venue is hosting the Easter ice rink.

Send your answer, along with your name, address and daytime telephone number to Newmarket Weekly News Ice Rink Competition, Winship Road, Milton, CB24 6PP.

Closing date for entries is Friday, March 28, and the first two correct entries drawn will be the winners.

Each family ticket will grant four people access to the rink for one hour.

Exclusive
Family
House

SET WITHIN an exclusive residential area just off Snailwell Road this fine detached family house boasts particularly spacious, well designed living accommodation and enjoys an attractive corner plot with good sized gardens.

Inside, a large hallway provides access to a superb Sitting Room which is just over 21' in length, and enjoys a gas fire and patio doors opening to the garden. The house also has 2 more reception rooms together with a cloakroom, well fitted kitchen /breakfast room and utility room.

On the first floor there are 4 good bedrooms, a master suite with dressing area with built in wardrobes and en suite shower room.

Outside the house enjoys good sized gardens which it is considered provides ample space to extend subject to consent. The property also has a double garage and off road parking.

It is considered that an internal inspection is absolutely necessary for the accommodation to be fully appreciated .

NEWMARKET WEEKLY NEWS

MOTORING

Yank tank gets German edge

WHEN the Chrysler 300C was introduced to the UK in 2005 its maker admitted it was taking a gamble. Here was an American car aiming for a share of the European quality car market.

Since launch, steady sales and a growing following has meant the car has hung on by its toes and has even begun to climb the rock face. This latest model sees a shift of emphasis though. The 300C is moving away from its transatlantic roots, it would seem, and embracing the European image of a quality car.

Most of the changes are cosmetic, apart from the revisions to the engine range. The interior is darker, the leatherwork has gained in quality and there are touches of stage lighting introduced around the central drinks holders and the door pockets.

Outside, the changes are mainly to the rear while the front end retains its distinct similarity to a Bentley. A pronounced lip has been added to the boot lid and the rear light clusters have been redesigned and repositioned. But does the introduction of some German gloom and quality make it a true rival for Mercedes, Audi and BMW?

FIRST DRIVE

All-American changeover

Somehow I think not. Its ultimate trump card – sheer value for money. None of its rivals incorporate self-levelling suspension as part of the standard deal. You also get xenon headlamps, leather-trimmed seating, and rear parking assist in the basic price of £27,495. Nearest to this is Saab at £30,630, Volvo S80 at £34,453 and then Audi A6 at £35,967.

In a sense the 300C is a wolf in sheep's clothing. Mercedes, until recently a partner of Chrysler, still has links with the American manufacturer. The 3.0-litre V6 CRD engine fitted to the 300C range is based on Merc technology and, as I found when driving, it wafts the 300C along with consummate ease.

Sitting in the Chrysler you get all the essentials – silence, solidity, performance and very relaxed motorway cruising. What you don't get is the kudos and halo effect of an Audi, Merc or BMW badge. The handling is slightly fidgety at low speeds on the back roads, but once out at sea it handles very nicely.

■ THE CHRYSLER 300C... a large and comfortable transatlantic design.

Its huge size and shallow windows make the extremities of the car difficult to see but, on the plus side, there is considerable space for the passengers to stretch out legs and relax the shoulders.

The revisions now make the engine choice simple. You either get the 3.0-litre diesel or you can go for the 6.1 V8 Hemi petrol engine which produces a huge 425bhp.

BASICALLY...

A large and comfortable transatlantic design which has now discovered that a discreet approach pays over brashness when it comes to selling in Europe. I don't think German quality makers are going to lose sleep over it, but buyers looking for sheer value will continue to boost sales. And the fact that it is easily confused with a Bentley won't do any harm either.

Ford meets allergy standards

FORD has become the first vehicle manufacturer to receive the European Centre for Allergy Research Foundation's (ECA-RF) Seal of Quality, awarded to allergy sufferer friendly products.

The research organisation awarded its Seal of Quality to six Ford models for their allergy-friendly interiors – the Ka, Focus, C-MAX, Mondeo, S-MAX and Galaxy MPV. “We’re very proud that the first vehicles to gain ECARF approval, carry the Ford blue oval,” said Dr Wolfgang Schneider, Ford’s European governmental and environmental affairs vice president.

He continued: “It’s our responsibility to offer customers products that address the growing concerns about allergies.”

Gordon's wheels

GORDON BROWN was named ahead of opposition leader David Cameron in a poll to find the politician from whom Britons would least want to buy a used car – but neither can match George Galloway MP, leader of the Respect party, and comfortable winner of the poll.

Brown is named by 13 per cent of Britons, Cameron by 10 per cent and Galloway by 22 per cent in the poll conducted by YouGov on behalf of Craigslist (www.craigslist.co.uk).

“Americans used to ask about Richard Nixon when he was running for President, ‘Would you want to buy a used car from him?’”, says Jim Buckmaster, CEO of Craigslist. “But it’s a question that should be asked of all politicians.”

Respondents to questions about national politicians were asked to chose from a list of 12 high-profile politicians. Sharing joint second place with Brown is Tony Blair. Nick Clegg of the LibDems is the one with the best chance of success as a used car-dealer, since he is the car-dealer no one wants to avoid.

■ The question asked was: “Which one of the following politicians would you least like to buy a used car from?” The top six were:

George Galloway: 22%, Gordon Brown: 13%
Tony Blair: 13%, David Cameron: 10%
Boris Johnson: 8%, Alistair Darling: 4%
Nick Clegg: 0%

Cars that match all criteria

IF you are searching for a car, have decided to go down the used car route and you wish to gain maximum value for money, there are few dealers that can match the quality and variety offered by Criteria Cars Ltd in Littleport.

The dealership may have only opened three months ago but it's backed by a great deal of automotive retailing experience. Ben gained valuable experience within the motor trade through working for more than five years at one of the largest family-run car superstores in England, gaining an excellent reputation along the way.

Ben and his father John knew that by bringing car supermarket prices to Ely without compromising on quality they were very likely to find success. And, so it has proved and sales have exceeded all expectations with more customers arriving week by week thanks to word of mouth recommendation.

One customer, Mrs Helen Jackson says: "I purchased an immaculate low mileage, W-registered silver Vauxhall Vectra around two weeks ago and it has been a fine car. The Vectra was sold complete with full service history and I was highly impressed with the way it had been prepared. I also experienced superb customer care at Criteria Cars.

"I had a couple of minor problems with my Vectra but these were corrected straightaway after one phone conversation with Ben."

On arrival at Criteria Cars' site in Littleport, you will appreciate the no hassle approach and low stress atmosphere where you can browse around their stock at leisure.

Should you have any questions about one of their cars or wish to take a test drive, either Ben or John will be more than happy to assist.

The variety of cars displayed covers most areas of the market and prices are amongst the most competitive in the East of England being well within the budgets of all car purchasers.

Something else that will impress you is the standard of preparation of each and every vehicle. All pre-delivery preparation, aftersales servicing and mechanical work is undertaken by Portley Garage in their modern, state of the art workshop.

Portley Garage has an excellent reputation which has been built up over a period of 28 years and they are located adjacent to the dealership.

All Criteria Cars' vehicles are HPI vehicle history checked for your piece of mind and valeted to showroom condition.

After an agreed sale, cars will undergo a pre-delivery inspection, a rigorous safety check and if due, a full service and cambelt change. If there's less than six months to go before the MOT runs out a new MOT will be provided.

When you arrive at Criteria Cars you will be dealing directly with either Ben or John. They will be involved personally with all aspects of your purchase, up to and beyond collection.

What's more, their commitment to you doesn't stop after you have taken delivery of your car. They offer a three month or 3,000 mile warranty on your vehicle, including parts and labour.

This comprehensive warranty cover is provided in house and so you will have no concerns about your claims being rejected in the very unlikely event of anything going wrong with your purchasing vehicle.

When you combine all this with warm, friendly and efficient customer care it's hard to imagine a better place to purchase a vehicle.

Remember that Criteria Cars offers cars at super-market prices without compromising on quality.

They offer full finance facilities where payments can be tailored to match your needs to ensure that purchasing is an easily affordable process. Why don't you ask about their 'Spring Finance Package'?

Call Ben and John now for more information on (01353) 863699 or log onto their informative website at www.criteriacars.co.uk to find out more.

You can find Criteria Cars Ltd at 113, Ely Road in Littleport (CB6 1HJ).

Why not email them at info@criteriacars.co.uk as Criteria Cars Ltd ticks all the boxes.

■ VALUE FOR MONEY . . . A great selection of cars awaits you.

Little Walden

PROCESS CONTROL CHARGEHANDS/ FORK LIFT TRUCK DRIVERS

Fuerst Day Lawson is a multi-million pound global commodities and food ingredients Group headquartered in London.

As part of our continuing development we are now seeking Process Control Chargehands who have the necessary experience to manage a small number of production and/or warehouse personnel in a busy food processing plant, at Little Walden, Essex. Knowledge of mechanical engineering would be considered a particular advantage.

We would like to speak to those who already have experience of managing others in a factory/warehouse environment and are looking for a new and exciting challenge. The ideal candidates will already have experience of operating in a busy factory environment where safety and efficiency are critical aspects of the operation.

We are also seeking experienced Fork Lift Truck drivers with a current licence. We offer a generous starting salary and career development opportunities exist beyond this role.

In the first instance those who are keen to accept a fresh challenge should reply by e-mail enclosing a copy of their CV to: bhughes@fdl.co.uk or in writing to FDL, Little Walden Airfield, Little Walden, Essex CB10 1XQ

Food & Beverage Operations Manager

c.£36,000 + bonus + benefits

For sheer challenge and variety, the village offers up to 2,479 covers in eleven distinctively different branded outlets - from cafés, bars and bistros to fine dining at a range of establishments including Britain's only rooftop revolving restaurant. You'll manage service delivery across seven of these outlets, ensuring that we have the right numbers of correctly trained and motivated staff, and using a structured, methodical approach to ensure consistent product standards.

Since you will have responsibility for up to 350 employees, you should have a considerable track record in the industry, with a proven flair for getting the very best out of customer-facing staff in a quality guest-orientated environment. Previous multi-unit responsibility is essential, as is experience of leading a 50+ team. You must also be able to demonstrate great powers of organisation and planning, real attention to detail and good numeracy.

Besides a competitive salary you can expect a challenging but attractive 17% bonus, plus a range of benefits including relocation assistance, pensions, discounted holidays, retail products and health and beauty treatments, childcare vouchers and free use of the gym, pool and other village facilities.

Health Protection Agency Clinical Microbiology Laboratory Addenbrooke's Hospital

The Health Protection Agency (HPA) is an independent body that protects the health and well-being of everyone in England and Wales. The Agency plays a critical role in protecting people from infectious diseases and in preventing harm when hazards involving chemicals, poisons or radiation occur. We also prepare for new and emerging threats, such as a bio-terrorist attack or a virulent new strain of disease.

Due to Laboratory restructure we are looking for a well-motivated, enthusiastic person to join our team to work within the following posts.

Healthcare Science Support Workers (Higher Level) (37.5 hours per week) Salary £14,437 to £17,257

This post holder will work primarily within the clerical office of the laboratory assisting with specimen data entry, dealing with telephone and patient record keeping. This post will also rotate throughout all the areas of the microbiology laboratory including the diagnostic bacteriology, virology and molecular sections. They will assist with the preparation, process and reporting of routine diagnostic microbiological specimens. Accuracy and attention to detail is critical. These posts are suitable for people with good GCSE/ A level including science and mathematics related subjects, and/or equivalent scientific/clerical experience. Evidence of keyboard skills would be an advantage. Full technical training will be given and the post is suitable for all age groups and involves evening and weekend work.

Further details may be obtained by contacting Gordon Sutehall on 01223 257035 or Laura Ryall 01223 257021 .

Administrative Assistant (18.75 hours per week) Salary £14,437 to £17,257 pro rata

This clerical post has been created to assist the Regional Microbiologist in his clerical duties within the East of England region. This post will also offer clerical support for the Head of Operations at Cambridge. Accuracy, attention to detail and discretion is important. Previous clerical experience would be an advantage and evidence of keyboard skills is essential. Full technical training will be given and the post is suitable for all age groups.

Further details may be obtained by contacting Dr Tim Wreghitt on 01223 257029 or Neil Bentley on 01223 216180 .

For both posts, please email for an application pack on microbiology@addenbrookes.nhs.uk , or postal applications may be obtained by contacting Annette Daly on 01223 216839. Closing date for applications to both posts will be 4th April 2008. Short listed candidates only to be contacted.

The HPA is an equal opportunities employer.

Management Accountant

As a market leader in environmental consulting and remediation, we are generating rapid organic growth. As a consequence we have a requirement to expand our finance team.

We are looking for an experienced person to join our finance team. Reporting to the Financial Controller the successful candidate will assist with all aspects of the accounting function. The duties will include intercompany reconciliations, subsidiary accounts preparation and providing general support for Month End processes, as well as overseeing a small accounts team.

The ideal candidate would have a solid accountancy background and be at least part qualified with a recognized accountancy body. The candidate should also be able to demonstrate initiative and the ability to lead a small team. Strong communication skills and a good knowledge of Microsoft packages would be an advantage.

We will offer an excellent package to the right individual.

To apply for the above position please send you CV to the HR Manager, Arcadis Geraghty & Miller International Ltd, 2 Craven Court, Newmarket, Suffolk, CB8 7FA

Babraham Bioscience Technologies Ltd

The Babraham Research Campus (BRC) is the home of the Babraham Institute, which carries out world renowned research into human health and life science; Babraham Bioscience Technologies Ltd (BBT), the wholly owned trading subsidiary of the Babraham Institute; and over 30 biotechnology companies housed in the BBT's Bioincubator Buildings. This thriving Campus provides a unique and highly successful environment, bringing together academic and commercial excellence. As a consequence of recent and future expansion of the Campus, BBT has the following new posts to assist in these exciting developments.

Technical Assistant (ref. JL/BBT/PT) Part-time (20 hours per week)

Starting salary range £7,757 - £8,054 per annum

A new Technical Assistant is required to provide support to the biotechnology companies in BBT's third Bioincubator building (Meditrina), and to the Bioincubator Manager. The successful applicant will be responsible for providing day to day support to the clients in Meditrina and will be the first point of contact for dealing with any queries or problems they may have. Other duties will include daily sorting of post and the operation of a glassware washing service and autoclave facility, along with the maintenance of records for recharging the costs of the services to the users.

The successful applicant will have excellent communication and organisational skills, experience of working in a scientific environment and will ideally have experience or working with glass washers and autoclaves. Applicants should also have the ability to work on their own initiative with minimum supervision and be able to work effectively as part of a team.

Porter / Stores Person (ref. MN/BBT/P)

Starting salary range £14,350 - £14,900 per annum

The Porter / Stores Person will undertake a dual role which will provide portering facilities across the BRC and support the Stores facility as a goods-in operative. Duties will include setting up and implementing a collection and delivery service of stores items to BBT's newest Bioincubator buildings, the monitoring of weekly liquid nitrogen deliveries to the buildings and the checking of deliveries into Stores to ensure they are correct. The post-holder will also be responsible for ensuring gas and chemical cylinders are stored in the appropriate sheds and that stocks are maintained.

The successful applicant will have experience of working as a porter and/or a stores person and will ideally have experience of driving a forklift. Applicants should also have excellent organisation and prioritisation skills, have the ability to work alone and unsupervised and work effectively as part of a team. Experience of working in a scientific environment would also be advantageous.

Starting salaries will be according to qualifications and experience. Please email bbt.personnel@babraham.co.uk or telephone 01223 496365 for an information pack and application form quoting the appropriate reference. The closing date for completed applications is Thursday, 3 April 2008.

NCTJ

JOURNALIST

Journalism is often seen as glamorous and exciting but, as with any occupation, success comes only after much hard work and routine activity. However, each working day as a journalist is different and the training you receive will give you the flexibility to cover a wide range of news stories and features.

Journalism draws on all the knowledge and skills you have acquired and can give you a tremendous sense of achievement. If you've got what it takes, journalism could be the career for you!

SO WHERE DO I START?

The NCTJ is the principal provider of journalism qualifications and training and offers a wide variety of training and learning options to suit everyone.

NCTJ qualifications are what editors look for when they are recruiting trainee journalists and these can be gained through full-time, part-time, distance learning or on-the-job training courses. We also offer press photography and photo-journalism training.

For further information about training as a journalist, please visit www.nctj.com where you will find details of all courses offered, locations of study and details of educational requirements.

Graduate Programme Manager Ref: CEN1586
£27,316 to £36,951 dependent on experience

The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute has an expanding scientific programme dedicated to using natural and experimental genetics to understand the role of genes in health and disease.

Training the scientists of the future is an important part of our mission and we have a thriving PhD programme in the areas of functional genomics and computational biology. The programme has substantial support from The Wellcome Trust and we are successful in attracting high calibre students from all over the world. We also provide research training opportunities for postdoctoral scientists in the early stages of their scientific careers.

The day to day co-ordination of these activities has become a significant task and we are creating a new position to take responsibility for this. Working closely with the Chair of the Graduate Training Committee and supported by an experienced programme administrator, you will manage all aspects of graduate training and provide professional support and expert advice across a wide range of issues. You will also play a part in co-ordinating postdoctoral development activities. Your rapport with our students, fellows and academic Faculty will be central to your success in the role as will your working relationships with the University of Cambridge, other HEIs and funding bodies.

You will need a background in the biological sciences [at least to 1st degree level], a good understanding of the key features of graduate training and excellent organisational abilities. Direct involvement in graduate training in an HEI or other academic research organisation would be a positive advantage.

Salary range £27,316 to £36,951 dependent on experience.

We offer a comprehensive range of benefits including a final salary pension scheme and excellent on-site facilities. Further details can be found on our website <http://www.sanger.ac.uk/careers/jobs/>. For informal discussion contact Alex Bateman agb@sanger.ac.uk

To apply for this position please send your CV (including 2 referees) and covering letter including current salary details, quoting reference number CEN1586 to: recruit@sanger.ac.uk.

Ely 10 Newmarket 10

A LATE try pegged Newmarket back after tries by James Boyle and Charlie Jones gave them the upper hand. However, the poor weather conditions forced handling errors and negated any advantage gained from turnover ball.

Ely 5 Newmarket 10

GOOD passing from Sam McNaughton found Will Christie, who equalised Ely's early try.

And with Sam Nash outstanding in defence, Newmarket found a platform for victory which was clinched when McNaughton scored.

Newmarket 30 Wisbech 30

NEWMARKET upped their game in the second half after lapses in concentration allowed Wisbech to run in three unanswered tries following Christie's opening score. Harry Robbins pulled one back before the break, but McNaughton, Boyle, Charlie Jones and Tage McEwan-Jonsson scored in a see-saw second period.

Newmarket 20 Wisbech 15

A LAST-MINUTE try by McNaughton snuffed out Wisbech's comeback. Clever passing from Nash to Christie secured Newmarket's first try before an impressive run from Robbins extended the lead. Shaun Leaman scored their third try before Wisbech launched their comeback bid.

UNDER-10

Ely 0 Newmarket 0

BOTH sides struggled to cope with the strong wind and heavy pitch, although Newmarket's pack dominated, forcing several penalties. However, they could not take advantage, although they did have a try wrongly disallowed.

Wisbech 0 Newmarket 0

THE way the Newmarket players applied themselves was the only highlight of a miserable day.

And the performance against Wisbech illustrated how their defensive play has improved, the opposition having the majority of possession without breaking through.

UNDER-11

Ely 7 Newmarket 42

APPLYING their trademark pressing game from the start, Newmarket shrugged off the conditions to rack up a good win.

Bob Challinor scored four tries to lead the romp, sparked by Adam Moss and Libby Burton.

Although Ely pulled the score back to 14-7, Newmarket stepped up another gear and two tries from Jack Barker made their pressure worthwhile.

UNDER-12

Ely 5 Newmarket 50

NEWMARKET set out their intentions with a try after receiving the kick off, Lewis Heap taking the catch and going over after inter-changing passes.

Suitably inspired, the under-12s chose this game to play adventurous running rugby in conditions that were clearly unsuitable.

In the 10-a-side match on a small pitch to utilise the available space, Heap added a second try to go with scores from Joe Stafford (2), Chris Le (2), Nathan Buckle, Ethan Brown, Ben Jeacock and Daniel Bristow. Dan Downing and Jack Watson were named joint men of the match for their commitment and try-saving tackles.

UNDER-13

Newmarket 10 Woodbridge 10

A DRAW was a fair result after an excellent match in which Woodbridge scored all their points in the first half. Newmarket responded after the break with a tap penalty which put in James Ellis-Saunders, who added the equaliser after Dale Gibson was stopped just short of the line.

MILDENHALL promoter Simon Barton is looking to build on foundations put in place last season.

The West Row organisation improved the club behind the scenes and increased attendances, despite it being a relatively poor campaign on the track – they were 12th in the league. And Barton is continuing to build future stability for the club having added three young, promising riders to the asset base.

"I'm very happy with the shape of our team," he said.

"We've got a very young side overall, four lads are 19 or 20, three of whom will be new to British Speedway and they all have great potential.

"There is opportunity for every single fan to get involved in the running of the club, whether it be by the shareholding group, part of the Barmy Army sponsorship or helping out the club in all sorts of ways.

"We have now got a group of up to nearly 200 people who are involved day to day in running this speedway club, which is excellent.

"I enjoyed my first year as promoter. It's very different from being on the terraces of course – the amount of work that goes into it surprised me – but the support I have got here is fantastic and I'm still enjoying it. We had a 15 per cent increase in attendances last year and we're hoping to match that.

"The key will be the quality of the racing because we've got Huggy on board again so the racing circuit you know is going to be very raceable and we have a group of young lads that want to race.

"I think that is going to make this season quite exciting.

"I would like to achieve Young Shield qualification as a minimum and to finish ahead of our league position last year.

"Last year was a step forward and hopefully this year we'll make further strides.

"I think what we will do is see four young inexperienced lads become established, quality Premier League riders."

Tigers' first chance to flex their muscles – against Rye House Rockets in the Premier Trophy – was washed out, but they were due to race at King's Lynn in the same competition last night (Wednesday).

They race King's Lynn at West Row on Sunday (4pm) before heading off to Rye House on Monday (2pm).

Domino knock spots off county rivals and remain unbeaten

NEW MARKET Domino retained their Cambridge Super League title at the weekend.

Despite difficult campaigns in the National and Suffolk/Essex leagues, Sunday's victories over St Philips, Cambridge and Peterborough side, Perkins helped Domino continue a winning streak which has lasted since the league was formed in 2004.

The first set against St Philips was a close affair until, at 12-12, Newmarket started to cut out their mistakes and upped their game, resulting in a surge to victory in the set that effectively clinched the title.

The second set was more one-sided.

Paul Freeman picked up two very difficult balls worthy of a libero player while Nik Mezanov, making a rare appearance as middle attack, and Rob Dovaston, in his familiar opposite position, both played well as the champions turned the screw.

The third set, however, was an anti-climax as Domino took their foot off the pedal and allowed unexciting St Philips to take the set, despite skipper Ben Childs' best efforts.

Newmarket, though, were fired up for their game against Perkins after the Peterborough side's unporting behaviour during the warm-up. However, the red mist obscured their vision and they found themselves 5-0 behind until a magnificent spike from Peter Gale changed the game and got Tim Saunders into the serving position.

Sixteen unanswered points put Domino in charge and they eased to their third set of the day, their outstanding play resulting in a comfortable second set against Perkins, who crumbled under the pressure.

Mezanov and Freeman continued to dominate at the net and Dovaston made a succession of blocks as Domino took the third set in the style of champions.

MOTORSPORT: A1 GP, MEXICO

Oliver bags more

OLIVER Jarvis returned from Mexico with the highest points tally of the day thanks to second places in both the sprint and feature races to lift Great Britain to fourth in the A1 standings.

The circuit in Mexico City is a lucky stomping ground for the Burwell ace (left) – he won the main race there last season, and he kept up his run on Sunday. After a restart of the opening sprint race, Jarvis, starting fifth on the grid, moved up to third by the first corner. And he cut inside the stricken South Africa car, which pulled up with a puncture, to move into second before the appearance of the safety car. From there, Jarvis was forced to defend against Switzerland, but he did so to cross the line second behind New Zealand. Jarvis made another good getaway in the feature event, ploughing into the first bend battling for the lead. He eventually settled down into third spot until making his first compulsory pit stop. On the way in, he was hit by New Zealand and lost a position, but a shrewd overtaking manoeuvre on Canada's Robbie Wickens saw Jarvis retake third place on lap 16. And a drive-through penalty for Switzerland on lap 42 bumped the former Formula Renault champion into second, behind race winner Adam Carroll, of Team Ireland. Jarvis also claimed the extra point after clocking the fastest lap. "Mexico has been a fantastic place for me," said Jarvis. "I've had four great results here. We got some strong points and we will look forward to the last two races."

BRITISH record holder Goldie Sayers won the javelin contest at the European Athletics Winter Throws Challenge in Split with a throw that secured Olympic qualification.

Sayers, who set her British record of 65.05m last year, produced the second biggest throw of her career, the 25-year-old former Newmarket athlete launching the javelin a distance of 63.65m. Sayers, who failed to make last summer's World Championships final in Osaka after a great summer's preparation, will be hoping to maintain her form in the build-up to the Olympics in August.

CAMBS WOMEN'S PREMIER LEAGUE CUP FINAL
NEWMARKET'S 29-game unbeaten run was brought to an abrupt halt in the cup final.

Town, who won the Cambs League title with a game to spare and will go into the East League next season, were under the cosh from the start and quickly trailed to two goals from short corners. However, they gradually got their game together after a shaky start, taking the play wide and creating several good chances.

They took advantage of their increased share of possession and, after a brilliant switch of play, Tracy Cockerill pulled a goal back. Ely, though, had done their homework and their tight marking restricted clear shooting chances. And, unlike Town, they knew how to make the most of their set pieces, scoring a third goal from a short corner after their opponents had not taken advantage of their own.

Woodbridge 0 Newmarket 2

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

NEWMARKET continued their fight to pull off the great escape with a win which moved them off the bottom of the table.

Both Newmarket goals arrived before half time, but not before the hosts fired an early warning shot by hitting the post within two minutes.

However, new boys Colin Vowden and Wayne Goddard, who both joined from Haverhill Rovers last week, slotted in well at the back to shore up the defence.

And it was another veteran defender Andy Eady, who opened the scoring with a header from a corner midway through the opening period. Tony Beck added the second. Newmarket were able to hold out in the second half to keep only their third clean sheet of the campaign.

However, the Jockeys still have plenty of work to do – they trail fourth bottom Swaffham by 12 points with eight games to go, including the Easter Monday showdown at Haverhill Rovers.
